DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election with traverse of the election of species the paper dated March 15, 2004 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the grounds that "a search performed for the claims of one species would necessarily encompass a search for all claims because of the closeness of the subject matter encompassed by all of the claims." This is not found persuasive because the varied nature of the species requires diverging searches.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 1, 2, 6 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. As amended, the device is "being fixed to only one of said vertebral bodies by a fastener." This limitation results in the positive recitation of the vertebra, which is non-statutory subject matter.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1, 2, 6, 7 and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent No. 6,294,187 to Boyce et al. Boyce discloses in Fig. 3 a rectangular body 90 in the form of a plate. The body is capable of being attached to only one vertebra. The body may be partially demineralized bone. See col. 2, lines 45-59. The device further comprises a fastener/screw 92 that is received by a throughbore in the body.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed March 15, 2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Examiner exerts that the Boyce device is fully capable of "cover[ing][not more than a portion of the height of an opening of a receiving bed ... [and] being fixed to only one of said vertebral bodies by a fastener."

The rejection of the claims over U.S. Patent No. 1,025,008 to Miner have been withdrawn.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new grounds of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
